Comparative School Costs Reviewed by High Board Member

Comparative figures show that the cost of education of the students in the high school at Campbell for residents about Campbell is particularly low. In this day of strictest economy it is well to recognize that this is the case.

To a large extent this is true because the cost of the high school buildings was all paid years ago. The only expense today is the actual running expenses, making the cost particularly low as compared to that in other school districts not included in the Campbell High School district, but sending students to that school. Districts not included within a high school district have to pay the expense of educating their children, and at the same time have no vote as to the use of that money since they are not represented on the school board.

The following figures show the tax rates for various school districts sending students to the Campbell high school. These tax rates are raised on each $100 of assessed valuation:

Campbell high school tax rate	.24
Almaden (for h.s. purposes)	.28
Burbank (for h.s. purposes)	2.71
Sunol (for h.s. purposes)	2.21
Willow Glen (for h.s. purposes)	1.42

These figures were obtained from the last report by the county supervisors, published Saturday, Sept. 3, 1932.

It will be noted above that it costs less to educate local students in the local high school than it costs to educate those coming from outside districts.

Again, the tax rates in the other near-by high schools are as follows:

	Maintenance	Bond
Campbell	.24	.00
Los Gatos	.33	.28
Santa Clara	.29	.26
San Jose	.74	.457
Fremont	.41	.40

These figures show that among the high schools mentioned, Campbell high school has the lowest tax rate per $100 of assessment for maintenance of the school, and also again brings out the fact that Campbell high school has no bond issue yet to be paid.

The matter may be studied from still another angle. In comparing the cost of education per pupil as raised by the district tax among these same high schools the following figures may be shown:

Campbell cost per pupil	101.13
Los Gatos cost per pupil	100.11
Santa Clara cost per pupil	146.33
San Jose cost per pupil	207.64

This shows Campbell high school to be among those having the lowest cost per pupil.

It can be seen from the various figures above that it costs less to educate Campbell students in the Campbell high school with the present school equipment than it would cost to send these students to the surrounding high school districts, even assuming that these other districts could accommodate more students than they do accommodate at present.

A CORRECTION

Polls for the grammar school election Friday, March 31, will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., instead of from 1 to 6 o'clock as heretofore announced.

Current Rumors, School Abolition Spiked By Couk

Rumors at present circulating around the community that it is the aim of the Taxpayers league to abolish the Campbell Union high school district were this morning branded as false by O. B. Couk, League leader, who stated to the Campbell Press that "anyone in the league or out of it would be utterly ridiculous to suggest such a move."

Mr. Couk pointed out that abolition of the local high school district would mean that the cost of educating a single student from this district would more than double—provided it would be possible for surrounding school districts to take up the overflow.

J. A. Conner Candidate For C.H.S. Trustee

Candidates for positions of trustees on the grammar school and high school boards, to be submitted to the people of the Campbell Union high and Campbell Union grammar school districts on Friday, March, 31, and sponsored by the Campbell Taxpayer league, are, according to information received from a prominent league member this morning, as follows:

For high school trustees, J. A. Conner, Meridian, who is an orchardist and manager of the Santa Clara branch of the California Walnut growers. Mr. Conner is vitally interested in the work of the prune pool, and while not a member of the Taxpayers league he is also interested in governmental economy. Miss Vina Lewis, of Cambrian district, is another candidate for high school trustee.

Running on the league platform for grammar school trustees are Joseph Gomes, prominent orchardist, Campbell district, whose running mate is Fred Smith, another orchardist of San Tomas.

Patterson Tells Of Death Valley

Another wonder of the world! That is the description of Death Valley given by Dr. N. P. Patterson of San Jose, who told Kiwanians of his visit to that remarkable spot. Here the twenty-mule teams did the borax trek. Here nothing grows. Here is the "devil's" golf course, nothing but hazards. Here the elevation extremes meet. He stood and looked at a spot 310 feet below sea level and thence to Mt. Whitney the highest spot in the United States.

Dr. Patterson also told of a few interesting features of the Boulder Dam construction which was visited.

O. J. Nichols gave two slide trombone solos accompanied by his daughter, Miss Veva, at the piano, which were very much appreciated by the club.

Dr. Poytress of the State college will speak to the club Tuesday on the subject, Where are we, and whither bound? E. C. Merrill will act as chairman.

The Stage, Topic At Monday Meet Of Club Women

Discussion of plays and their presentation always provide an interesting program and that prepared by the committee for the Monday meeting of the Country Woman's club was no exception.

Mrs. Laura Schulte Allen read a paper on "Manhattan Plays and Players," including prominent ones of the past two or three seasons. She spoke of the many empty or half empty playhouses in New York—empty because of both the financial situation and the many poor plays put on the boards.

Among the best plays of 1931 were: The Barretts of Wimpole Street, Mourning Becomes Electra, Private Lives, Tomorrow and Tomorrow, Green Grow the Lilacs, and Five Star Final. Some of the outstanding portrayals in these and other plays were given by Katherine Cornell, Alice Brady, and Alla Nazimova, Lynn Fontanne, Ruth Gordon, and Maurice Schwartz.

The return of Maude Adams to the stage was a notable event and her tour in the Merchant of Venice was a great success. The Barretts of Wimpole Street was another financial success.

Ethel Barrymore did not score heavily in Scarlet Sister Mary. One of the later plays is an all-negro spectacle, Run Little Chillun, by Hall Johnson.

The newest play of Noel Coward to be produced in New York is, Designed for Living. Coward is the author of many plays, one of the best-known being, Cavalcade.

Another fine play of this year is, Alien Corn, author, Sidney Howard.

Mrs. Allen concluded with an article in Time on Katherine Cornell, who was selected by the author as "Queen of the American stage."

Mrs. T. A. Cutting, chairman of the day's committee, directed a one-act play, Between Trains, in which the other members, assisted by Mrs. R. H. Hyde had the following roles: Mrs. Flaherty, the station agent, Mrs. . E. Jeffers; Judge Mowbry, Mrs. Hyde; Annie, the bride, Mrs. C. B. Field; Gloria, a very up to date young woman, Mrs. F. R. Anderson. The little skit was very successfully put on and much enjoyed.

Miss Ruth Adele Roberts presented several of her younger pupils in costume dances. Those appearing were Gladys Larson and Geraldine Lloyd in a polka; Mervelyn Russell, "Bell Boy;" Marilyn Anderson, "Skirt Dance;" Jane Hopkins and Jacqueline Mitchell, "My Merry Oldsmobile."

Mrs. Lillian Roberts was accompanist for this interesting group of little dancers.

During the business meeting Mrs. A. W. Johnson and Mrs. J. B. Strong were elected delegates to the County Federation meeting in San Jose Friday. Mrs. G. W. Burrow and Miss Anne Schulte were chosen as alternates. The president is an ex-officio delegate.

Mrs. Hyde announced the plans for guest day, April 3, and urged each member to be present with at least one guest. Former members are especially invited. The program will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bachman and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Covey were clamming today and caught a limit.

Economy, Platform Of Mrs. L. Shelley, Trustee Candidate

Mrs. Louis Shelley

If elected I shall endeavor to keep the expense of running the school at its present low level, and I shall insist that the expense of the school be lowered if it can possibly be done without impairing the high standard of education which now obtains and which the community expects from its high school. As our high school district, as well as all other districts in the county, is going through a crisis, this is no time to launch a building campaign. I shall be firmly against any bond issues of any kind that would add further burdens to the already overburdened tax payer.

—Mrs. Louis Shelley

Mrs. C. M. Page Laid At Rest In Los Gatos

Funeral services were held Monday morning from the Campbell Congregational church for Mrs. Clara Melissa Page, who passed away at her home here after a long illness. The Rev. J. H. Bennett officiated at the services with the Rev. Benjamin St. John assisting. Interment was made in the Los Gatos cemetery.

Mrs. Page was 83 years old and a native of Vermont. In 1918 Mrs. Page and her daughter moved to Soquel and in 1929 they moved to Campbell where they have since made their home. Mrs. Page was the niece of the late C. D. Cutting.

R. Y. Maxon escaped with no injuries when his car failed to straighten out when making a U turn at the Ainsley cannery corner this afternoon. He ran up on the curb and damaged the north window of the new Sprouse-Reitz store and damaged his car slightly.

Mrs. Louis Shelley, SchoolCandidate,Has Remarkable Record

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Shelley have been residents of this community for 22 years, and have been identified with all progressive movements in Campbell and vicinity. They are active members of the Grange, Mr. Shelley being a past master. He is an authority on poultry raising, having been engaged in the business for the past 20 years in Cambrian district.

They have three sons, all graduates of our local high school, and two of them graduates of the University of California. Perry is a consulting engineer for a gas and electric company in Enid, Okla.; Harold is an orchardist, and Richard a journalist.

Mrs. Shelley, while a home-lover, has also found time for outside duties. She has always been interested in educational affairs, and in young people. A graduate of Oklahoma State Teachers college, she taught a year there and a year in California before her marriage.

In 1922 she started the Camp Fire Girls organization in Santa Clara county, and was elected executive secretary, an office which she held for ten years. During this time a summer camp was established at Big Basin, which has since been made permanent. The national secretary visited the camp one summer and said that this Camp Fire group was run more economically and efficiently than that of any other city of its size, or twice its size, in the United States. High praise, indeed! Since resigning as secretary of Camp Fire last year, Mrs. Shelley still keeps up her interest by being guardian of a group at Cambrian school.

She was on the faculty of San Jose State college for seven summer sessions, teaching a course on girls' club leadership, and is at present instructor in the Business Girls' league of the San Jose Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Shelley's work in Camp Fire took her into most of the schools of the county. While on a trip east a few years ago she attended lectures at Vanderbilt university, Nashville; she visited schools in Washington, D. C., Columbia university, New York, and schools in Kansas, Colorado, and Oklahoma, especially gaining information concerning girls' clubs.

Mrs. Shelley was a trustee of Cambrian school for nine years, and has been presdient and secretary of both Cambrian grammar school and Campbell union high school P. T. A. She is now serving on the high school board, having been appointed by the county superintendent to fill out the term of Mr. Todd, who resigned.

She has consented to run for high school trustee, and we are to be congratulated that a woman of such splendid qualifications for leadership is willing to serve the community in this capacity. Her intimate knowledge of school affairs, her proven efficiency in economic management, her enthusiastic interest in young people, make her an ideal candidate for the office of school trustee.

Education Costs Are Higher; Here's Why, Says Shadle

Emerson has defined democracy as meaning equal opportunity for all. Only through the public schools and free education can this equality be given, and only through a trained and intelligent citizenship can democracy hope to succeed.

In such times as these, children should be kept in school. Industry has more men and women than it needs; unemployment would be increased by allowing the young people to enter the trades.

I was asked the other day, "Why is education so much more expensive than it used to be?"

Twenty years ago over half the children of California dropped out of school before finishing the seventh grade. Now, under the compulsory education law, practically all of them go on through high school.

"But," said my friend, "the cost per pupil has also increased. With more children in school why should not mass production bring the cost per pupil down?"

The answer lies in the kind of education required by the type of student who in the old days used to quit school. Twenty years ago little but a classical education preparatory to college was offered. The student furnished his own books and supplies—no free text books in those days—and there was no need of equipment for teaching language, mathematics and history. The simple equipment of the physics and chemistry departments were inexpensive.

But Latin and trigonometry had little appeal for the restless student who formerly dropped out. If such children were compelled to stay in school, subjects suitable to their abilities and inclinations must be provided. And so typewriters, adding machines, electric motors, forges, lathes, in some schools even line-casting machines, a great variety of scientific apparatus, and shop tools of all sorts were bought to diversify the courses to such needs. All this was costly.

In part the answer may be found in more attractive and more sanitary school buildings. American homes have added innumerable conveniences in the last 20 years—automobiles, gas heaters, radios, and scores more. We have wanted as much better schools as homes—for the schools house our children.

Another answer is the better quality of instruction that has been sought through a better trained and more able teaching force. Twenty years ago many high school teachers lacked a college education; now the standard of preparation requires a full four-year college course, a post graduate year at the university, and frequent attendance at summer schools.

Such preparation on the part of the teacher has been expensive, and the cost of education has correspondingly increased. Good salaries attract teachers of ability—poor pay will lose them to the profession. It cannot be hoped to keep them at wages less than can be earned at law, medicine and the other professions.

Incidentally, concerning the "easy money" that teachers are supposed to make, try to imagine your home filled to overflowing with children—not of your own blood or training, but each with a different background, with the widest differences of abilities, and even with differences of race, and see if the problem seems so simple. I have sometimes heard of trouble in households of not more than half a dozen members, but the school teacher who cannot keep 30 youngsters in one room for five or six hours a day without fighting, without loafing, and without covering the supposed amount of work, regardless of the kind of training received at home, is considered a very poor teacher.

Now for economy in education.

We are in a time of distress. Cuts should be made all along the line. The costs of education should be brought down along with the rest. But it is easy to go too far. There may have been extravagance; we may have been over-indulgent with our children—given them more than we could afford. But with machines taking the place of unskilled labor and with millions out of employment, what better can we do than keep the boys and girls in school and continue to give them the highest, most skilled, and most diversified training possible in the endeavor to fit them as well as possible for the very complex world which has been created for them.

It will take better training than ever before in the history of America to enable them to cope with the tremendous problems ahead; and it is only through the schools that the training can come.

Then let us consider costs, and keep the schools tuned to economy, but let us not economize to the point of wrecking or even impairing the surest foundation of our country—the public school.

UNION AVENUE FOLKS VISITED BY OAKLANDERS

Mrs. Leo H. Young of North Union avenue was happily surprised on Sunday by a visit from her 87-year-old uncle, Nate Hanscom, who, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Hanscom and their daughter Dorothy, cousins of Mrs. Young, drove down from Oakland.

Waldo Hanscom, who recently completed a series of dredging contracts for the Stockton deep water project, gained engineering fame through his construction of warehouses and wharves of Port Astoria at the mouth of the Columbia river ,and for his later work of dredging and reclaiming the town of Longview, Wash.

ART EXHIBIT, HIGH SCHOOL, OPEN FROM 1 - 4

Monday to Thursday of this week there is an exhibit from the California School of Arts and Crafts at the high school annex. The hours this showing is open to the public are from 1 to 4 p. m. Miss Dorothy Saunders is in charge.

Last week the exhibit was at the San Jose high school, and goes from here to Los Gatos.

KELLOG LECTURE GETS BIG HAND FRIDAY NIGHT

Charles Kellog, nature study expert, who spoke last Friday night at the grammar school auditorium, under the auspices of the high school P. T. A., proved that he possesses many senses not usually found in a human.

Demonstrating a high note which he can produce which no human ear can hear, Mr. Kellog extinguished a flame from a gas burner. Songs which were identical with bird songs were given by the speaker, who proved that they harmonize with any kind of music.

Descriptions of his experiences in the Fiji islands were given to the audience.

Assisting Mr. Kellog were the Campbell Boy Scouts, including Richard Smith, Frank Covey, Robert Lowrie, Glenn DuBois, and Jack Lowrie.

Group 1 of the Guild will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Dan Clark.

For FINER meals from CHEAPER meat-cuts and vegetables

Electric RANGES MAKE CASH SAVINGS
...lower food costs...cut wasteful shrinkage

COOKING WITH LITTLE OR NO WATER, most successfully accomplished with the electric range, is more than a new kitchen practice. It saves time and money in food preparation.

When a large amount of water is used in cooking meats, much of the juicy meat flavor is drawn into the excess water. The meat becomes tough and tasteless. When vegetables are boiled vigorously in similar use of water, the most valuable and body-building nourishment goes into the water and is usually thrown away. Cooking with little or no water is important then because foods so cooked are more healthful and taste better.

The steady, even heat from the glowing coils in an electric range preserves the flavor and increases the tenderness of the least expensive meats and cheaper vegetables. Electric range cookery means finer meals at lower cost every day of the week. And what is most important of all, actual food shrinkage is 20 to 33 per cent less, a cash saving in the household food bill.

The best way to know why the electric range does these things is to look at the new 1933 models on display in our local office. Your electric dealer has them too. This year these new electric ranges of finer quality are lower than ever in price. Ask about the easy purchase terms on the new 1933 electric ranges.

School Legislation Of Present Session Thoroly Discussed

Everyone believes in education. It's just a matter of how much and what kind. Witness the extra training classes, the after school and Saturday classes held by the Japanese, the Jews, the Catholics, the Salvation Army, the Socialists, the Communists, and the Captains of Industry for their employes, etc. It is not just by chance that a devotee of any cult, ology, or ism, endeavors to "Catch 'em young and tell 'em everything."The wisdom of the ages, from every quarter of the globe, choruses in, "Youth must be educated."

Everyone—but Anarchists—believe in legislation. It's just a matter of how much and what kind. One might assume that since all agree on the necessity for education, legislating for education would be a simple matter. "Aye, there's the rub." One group seeks certain aims in education while another group has a totally different purpose. Economic interests here, as elsewhere, form the basis of each varying viewpoint. The corporate interests, through their lawyers, aim to pass legislation diverting school funds to other uses, thus avoiding increased taxation upon themselves. The Breed bill asking a reduction of $12,000,000 in the school budget did not pass.

It is easy to forget that our real and personal property tax is $1.85 while the corporation pays only $1.54, "a difference of $.31 per $100 in true valuation, in favor of the corporations." The Jones bill which will come up in the legislature soon, focuses attention on our district tax once more. It limits the amounts raised by the trustees in both elementary and high to two thirds of former maximum, that is 47c instead of 70c, and 20c instead of 30c, for elementary schools, and 50c instead of 75c for high schools.

Next to the home budget itself, nothing is more vital to the health and wealth of any community that its school budget, since the child's life at school complements its life at home. Antagonism between school and home life works toward a divided personality in the child. He needs an atmosphere of peace, and a feeling of abundance, not necessarily abundance of purchased articles, but in the sense of "life more abundant." Only adults with poise, at home and in the classroom, and a well-poised school system, showing some continuity year after year, can give him this sense of security, so essential to intellectual growth. The little child should no more be deprived of music and art than of food. With all the signs of the times pointing toward increased leisure for adults, the human being needs to be trained for cultural recreation.

Another group wishing to cut educational cost is the small property owner. Overburdened beyond edurance, he sometimes believes it is the educational system that is foreclosing on him. In reality, he, as the educational system, has become the victim of the "soulless corporation." We home owners do not always see clearly enough our real enemies.

The Riley Plan for re-organizing state finances did not pass. Careful figuring proved that under its provisions, the corporations would pay just $20,000,000 less than at present. The Inman Equalization bill did not pass, but it is coming up again with better chances.

There is a determined move on foot to cut the expenses of some state departments to the quick. This move finds its most concrete expression in the report of the Fact-Finding committee of the senate which recommends doing away with or cutting down steeply on the budgets of almost everything that has made California stand out as progressive in matters of legislation. Free adult education, old age pensions, rigid adoption safeguards by welfare departments, libraries, teachers' colleges, blind homes, state employes' pensions, veterans home, Napa farm, etc., will all go under the knife, if this Fact-Finding committee has its way. A statement just released from organized labor of this state says: "Attempts to ameliorate the situation of the unfortunate are regarded as idiotic by the corporations." Those who have turned off workers by the tens of thousands would now close the doors of libraries and night schools to those who have lost their jobs and homes.

An article in Classroom Teacher, the voice of the rank and file teachers in California, entitled "School or Jail," quotes the N. E. A. figures as $3,000 per year to keep a man in jail, $100 a year to educate a child. It would seem, the article concludes, that education is our best crime preventative.

"Then there are the 21 bills already introduced in the legislature attacking tenure for teachers from every angle. Some of these measures suggest, 'Let's scrap the whole law and be done with it.' Others, without using the word tenure, quietly destroy this civil sorvice for teachers." Perhaps the worst, most vicious from the standpoint of the teachers' interest (and after all why not admit everything is seen from the angle of somebodys interest,) in the Badham bill to which amendments are still being drawn up in Sacramento. Mr. Badham was induced to sponsor this bill by Los Angeles school board. Quoting again from Classroom Teacher, "Most audacious of all is the Badham bill which calmly arranges for a teacher's dismissal by means of a hearing in which the laws of evidence need not be adhered to, testimony need not be sworn to, and the statue of limitations need not be observed." Others dangerous to the welfare of true teaching and therefoore to the welfare of the pupils, are the Zion bills, the Phillips' bills, etc.

One of the most interesting features of this legislature was a joint educational session on tenure held by Educational committees of the senate and assembly on Mach 16 at the capitol before which trustees and teachers from many sections testified for and against pending legislation on tenure. Among those testifying for tenure for teachers was principal Biedenbach, of Berkeley high school who said that for a long series of years in his school of 128 teachers, he had found tenure entirely satisfactory; moreover that he would not feel able to put over any worth-while educational campaign with a constantly changing staff of teachers. Other friends to the teachers' cause who spoke before this joint committee were Mr. O'Connell of the Civil service association saying that whenever the peope of California have decided the question of civil service they have always decided in the affirmative. Professor Almack of Stanford and Mr. Givens, president of the C. T. A. were both present at this meeting and reported unequivocally for teachers' tenure. Many rank and file teachers from Los Angeles, Berkeley, Oakland Sacramento, etc., were at this hearing. Miss Nell Stone, president of the Alameda County Teachers' association, gave a strong talk for her own and other teachers' rights. Mr. Graybiel, chairmar of Tenure committee of A. C. C. T. and leader in San Francisco, also spoke for tenure.

In conclusion let me quote from "The California Tax Crisis," in a recent issue of the Sierra Educational News, 1933, by Elmer Staffebade:

"The public service corporations have utilized the weakness in the present system of taxation to unload on other taxpayers much of the tax load which the present system was supposed to fix upon such corporations."

* * *

"It needs to be continually stressed that every dollar of reduction in school costs should lighten the tax load of common property owners by exactly that amount. There is no honest logic which will justify the reduction of the present obligation of the corporations to the schools even by so little as a single penny."

MRS. HARRY VOSS COMPLEMENTED AT SHOWER MONDAY

Miss Helen Ferro entertained a group of friends in honor of Mrs. Harry Voss at a surprise shower at the home of her mother, Mrs. Antone Ferro, on Central avenue Monday afternoon.

Decorations consisted of bright boquets of daffodils.

The lovely gifts were presented to Mrs. Voss in a basket, charming in its trimmings of blue and pink ribbons.

The afternoon was spent visiting and playing games. Refreshments were served at the close of a pleasant afternoon.

Those present were Mrs. Harry Voss, her mother, Mrs. Harry White, Mrs. Bryce Whitmore, Mrs. Phil Fletcher, Mrs. Elwin Windbigler, Mrs. G. E. Windbigler, Mrs. C. N. Mrs. Louis Shelley Endorsed by Mitchell For C.U.H.S. Trustee

Once again the time for the annual school election approaches, and for the first time in the history of our high school we have a woman running for the position of trustee.

Mrs. Louis Shelley was persuaded to fill out the term of E. H. Todd when he resigned last fall, and has done so in a very capable manner.

Mrs. Shelley is well qualified for the position, having raised a family of her own and having served for years as a Camp Fire executive. She has a thorough understanding of the younger generation.

Mrs. Shelley also has had other experience which qualifies her for the position, as she has served as a grammar school trustee for nine years, and is familiar with many of the problems which arise. She is a strict believer in economy without obstruction.

I sincerely hope that the voters of this district will return Mrs. Shelley to the position she now holds as a trustee of Campbell Union High school.

Respectfully,
F. Wilbur Mitchell

BOHNETT AND COLLINS SEEK RE-ELECTION

Present incumbents on the grammar school board who are running for re-election, are W. C. Bohnett and J. B. Collins. Mr. Collins has served on the board for a number of years and, being an orchardist, knows and sympathizes with the endeavors of the farmers and others to keep taxes down. Mr. Bohnett through his position as green fruit buyer for the J. C. Ainsley Packing company, is familiar with the farmers' difficulties. He has also had experience as a grammar school principal and is therefore qualified to assist in the direction of school business in an economical manner consistent with proper educational facilities.

Their formal announcement follows:

To the Voters of C.U.G.S. Dist:

We, the undersigned, are candidates for re-election to your school board. We stand on the proposition that school expenses should be reduced and held to as low a figure as possible without crippling the service the school must give.

Our board was the first to announce in Santa Clara county a reduction in teachers salaries for 1932. We favor a further reduction this year.

Our school tax has been reduced each year for the past three years, and it shall be our policy, if re-elected, to continue to give the district the best service in our power at the lowest possible cost consistent with efficiency and fair dealing.

J. B. Collins
W. C. Bohnett

The Young Womens' Service club met this afternoon with Mrs. Dan Clark at her home on North Second street.

GUILD PROGRAM ENTERTAIN LADIES

Group 3 of the Congregational Guild entertained the members of the entire organization at a combined old-fashioned and St. Patrick's day party at the church last Thursday afternoon.

The St. Patrick's motif was carried out in the decorations and refreshments. Beautiful hooked rugs were on the floor and hand-quilted quilts hung on the walls furnishing the old-fashioned idea. All the guests came in old-fashioned costumes dating back to 1900. Following a grand march of the costumed women the members all voted Mrs. Fred James as the most typically old-fashioned. Mrs. George Wright was voted second.

Part of the afternoon was spent in playing guessing games and working jig-saw puzzles. Prizes were given to winners in each.

The entertaining program which followed included Mrs. A. I. Cramer singing two songs "Birdsong at Eventide" and Maytime." She was accompanied by Mrs. G. S. Robson at the piano. Betty Keesling played a trumpet solo, "Sweet Mystery of Life" accompanied at the piano by Olga Brydon. Lois Bachman sang "Alice Blue Gown" also accompanied by Miss Brydon. Mrs. Harry Smith presented three readings, "The Courtin'," by Lowell; "A Tale of the Airly Days" and "A New Year's Time at Willards," by Riley.

On the committee for this entertainment were Mrs. Julius Bachman, chairman; Mrs. Henry Young, Mrs. Dave Sanders, Mrs. William Coupland, Mrs. Al Covey, and Mrs. George Griffin.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH NOTES

Group No. 2 of the Guild will hold a food sale this Saturday at Field's store.

Group 3 of the Guild will meet at the Manse this Thursday at 2 p. m. Joint hostesses are Mrs. Nellie Mills and Mrs. E. Jacobs.

The young people's organizations of the church are endeavoring to carry the church benevolences this year, which total $300. To raise the necessary amount, the first entertainment will be a Friendship dinner at the church this Friday at 6:30 p. m. Reservations can be made by calling 11-J.

Following the dinner and inclusive in the charge will be a fine program. The P. J. C. orchestra under the leadership of Herbert Miller of San Jose will give several selections. Mr. Miller will sing several solos, and Wilbur Morton will play a trumpet solo. A play will be presented by the Junior intermediate group.

An American Indian program under the direction of Miss Hancie Naylor will be presented at the Sunday evening service at 7:45. The entire program will center around the life history and present conditions of the American Indian.

There will be special feature readings by members of the high school group and a play entitled "Blind Neighbors."

The cast of characters for the play includes Barbara Baird as Winona Eagle, Margaret Tanner, Dolly Eagle; Helen Payne, Grandmotoher Blackhoop; Dennis Bennett, Harold Carter; Everett Strong, Grandfather Carter.

There will be an offering on behalf of the benevolences of the church.

TO VOTERS OF CAMPBELL U. H. S. DISTRICT

To the voters of Campbell Union High School District.

Friday, March 31, we go to the polls to chose two high school trustees out of the three candidates filed. The two elected will serve the district for three years. I wish to urge you, the voters, to support and vote for two candidates, Mrs. Louis Shelley and Mr. Joseph A. Conner.

Mrs. Shelley is now filling out E. H. Todd's unexpired term. She has lived for years in the Cambrian district and is wonderfully capable and well qualified for the position, always having a constructive interest in school affairs and has also had experience as a member of the Cambrian Grammar school board.

Mr. Conner is a thoroughly capable man of wide experience in orcharding, business and school affairs. He has resided for years in Meridian district and is now serving as manager of the Santa Clara Walnut Grower's association. He was formerly a member of the Campbell Union Gramar school board for several years.

Mrs. Shelley and Mr. Conner are both people who can be trusted to give us a constructive, sound and economical administration of school affairs, and it is to be hoped that they will be acorded a majority by the voters at the coming election.

The voting place will be open from 9:00 a. m. until 6:00 p. m.
